Purpose/objective of the change

Discontinuation as the result of a portfolio revision

Detailed description of the change

We always strive to provide you with state-of-the-art products for your application. To this end, for technical reasons it is necessary to evaluate the product portfolio and adjust it accordingly. In this context, we need to inform you that the dust protection caps for M12 connectors with female connectors are being discontinued. This discontinuation is due to the introduction of new protective caps that are also compatible with our new push-pull system in addition to the standard and SPEEDCON screw connection. You will find the replacement products listed in the notice of discontinuation. The external appearance of the new protective caps is identical to that of the discontinued products.
