 Product function (function)

As part of a design standardization, the appearance of the listed products is being unified; this means that all listed products of the UNO PS product range are being redesigned. This includes:

- The order number and order designation on the device front
- A QR code for documenting the device in the e-shop
- Unambiguous numbering of all terminal points
- A change in color of the connection technology
- The Phoenix Contact logo

Depending on the system, the switchover to the new design can be implemented in advance in the online and printed documentation. The expected initial delivery may vary depending on the order situation.
