Purpose/objective of the change

Removal of UKCA-EX pictograms from description field

Detailed description of the change

Due to recent regulatory developments, the UKCA-EX markings are becoming obsolete and will therefore be progressively removed from the marking areas of all applicable and suitable products globally. This change is strictly related to regulatory labeling requirements and does not entail any modifications to the products themselves. Specifically, there is no impact on electromechanical parameters, product design, form factor, performance characteristics, or functional behavior.

The removal of the UKCA-EX marking will be executed as a controlled and phased initiative to ensure continued compliance and portfolio continuity. Implementation will be carried out in defined batches, aligned with production schedules and existing product lifecycles, in order to minimize any potential disruption. This activity is ongoing, with full completion of the UKCA-EX marking removal across all relevant products anticipated by the end of 2027. Process starts at 31.05.2026.
