

Product Change Notification

Ref-no.: MODI-785

June 26, 2013

Type of Change:

Notification of Factory Change; No Change to Form, Fit or Function, Manufacturing Location Change only.

Description of Change:

The following Murata Power Solutions (MPS) products will be migrated from their current place of manufacture in Shenzhen, China, back to their original home factory in the USA. MPS currently manufactures these items at a 3rd party manufacturing partner in Shenzhen and will move the manufacture of these select items to MPS Headquarters in Mansfield, Massachusetts, USA.

There is no form, fit or function change to any of these products. In general, these are products that have activity levels that negate the benefits of high volume offshore manufacturing. MPS can provide a better level of service building these products in the US.

Since the country of origin will change as a result of the transfer, the paperwork accompanying shipments will identify the new COO on the appropriate paperwork as well as product labels, consistent with import/export regulations.

Timing:

The change will begin from July 2013 and will be managed on a part number basis due to varying inventory levels. Once all China-built inventories have been depleted on a given item, all future orders will be fulfilled from the US. There should be no price impact and as mentioned, we expect an improvement in service levels for these items.
