RLR07/S

Description of Change	Effective immediately, TT electronics will no longer accept orders for RLR07 MIL-qualified metal glaze resistors.
Reason for Change	TT electronics has decided not to pursue RLR05 qualification to MIL-R-39017. The RLR07 manufacturing line recently experienced a conformance test failure, resulting in a suspension of all RLR07 shipments. As such, this served as an opportunity for rationalization of the product family. TT electronics has made a strategic decision to not pursue RLR05 qualification to MIL-R-39017 at this time.
Implementation Plan	Customers with existing RLR07 orders will be allowed to cancel those orders. Please contact your local TT electronics representative for more information. Customers who choose not to cancel RLR07 orders will experience a delay of 6 months (minimum) before TT electronics can resume shipments to fulfill existing orders.
Customer Impact	Customers anticipating shipment of RLR07 product from TT electronics will experience a delay in receipt of product. As TT electronics has not accepted orders for RLR05 product, customers will experience no impact. Please note that RLR20 product is not affected by this end of life notice.

Recommendations	TT electronics recommends that customers consult Qualified Products List for MIL-R-39017 for alternate sources of RLR05 and RLR07 product.
Availability of Previously Manufactured Product	TT electronics has limited inventory of previously manufactured RLR05 and RLR07 product.
