Product change of the PLH and PLW feed-through terminal block
Please forward this information to your electrotechnical departments!

Dear Sir or Madam

The handling of the lever terminal block is optimized. The spring is slightly changed to facilitate the insertion of the conductor. When looking into the insertion area, the change can be understood. Further dimensions as well as the technical features are not affected by this modification.

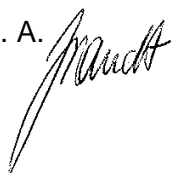

The new version is expected to be delivered as of April 15, 2014.

Do you have any questions? You are welcome to contact our support engineer or the sales team in Blomberg.

Yours faithfully
